

Information Management May 13, 2010

Green IT's Increasing Importance to Business Leadership
Four actions IT leaders can take to cut energy use and related expenses

In my last article, I discussed how IT leaders can reduce their environmental and financial impact by taking several steps to cut their overall energy use and related expenses. But there are many other actions IT leaders can take to realize additional benefits.

Read the full article here.