Public Sector Solutions Overview

Today more than ever, government leaders everywhere are challenged to deliver greater value with fewer resources. Across all levels of government there is renewed public emphasis on demonstrating real value to the taxpayer; high performance, accountability and transparency are the watchwords of the day. At the same time, government agencies are expected to deliver to their constituents the same innovations in services available in the private sector.

To address these challenges, successful government leaders know they must begin with the right performance management model for their organization, focused on key outcomes and results, and execute with unwavering focus against a strategy that maximizes the efficiency of all of their assets: human capital, information, and financial and physical resources.

Hitachi Consulting is helping government organizations of all sizes and complexity, both in the U.S. and abroad, with achieving strategic goals, improved performance and measurable results. We combine a working knowledge of the public sector with relevant strategies and best practices from the private sector to offer practical management solutions. We help our clients execute with leading Information Technology solutions, drawn from the technological expertise and innovation for which the Hitachi name is known worldwide. Our professionals bring fresh thinking, speed with purpose, and a collaborative working style to each and every client engagement, backed by an unswerving commitment to your success.

Workforce Transformation

Governments everywhere are faced with the simultaneous challenges of an aging workforce and talent acquisition & grooming. As experienced resources either retire or enter the private sector, agencies are at risk of critical knowledge loss, overloaded experts and poor alignment of skillsets to needs. At the same time, agencies are challenged with attracting and training a new generation of knowledge workers and "making government cool again." Hitachi Consulting offers services and tools for effective workforce transformation in resource planning and skills management, to place the right people at the right place at the right time, and to actively manage the inventory of needed skills.
